Everything is Wallet: Payments and the European Electronic Identity

Studio 1

In today's digital age, wallets have evolved far beyond their traditional role. They now hold our payment methods, loyalty cards, boarding passes, and much more. However, a widely usable electronic identity is still missing in many cases. The European Union aims to change this by mandating Member States to provide interoperable EU Digital Identity Wallets to their citizens by 2027. This session will shed a light on the implications of this mandate, particularly for financial service providers who will be required to accept the EUDI Wallet for authentication and authorization. We will explore potential use cases for payments and compare the EUDI Wallet to private and other local initiatives.

Speaker: Joerg Richter, Senior Payments Expert, Deutsche Bundesbank

09:00 – 10:00

Eurosystem project on the Digital Euro

Studio 1

This session takes stock of the European retail CBDC project, the digital euro from a functional, technical and political perspective.

Speaker: Menno Broos, Program Lead Digital Euro, De Nederlandsche Bank
