Srinivasan Chandrasekaran
Vice President, Product
BillGO

Current responsibilities:

As Vice President of Product at BillGO, I lead the strategy and roadmap for our B2B, C2B and Small Business Payments Products, driving innovation across ACH, Virtual Card, and emerging payment rails. My focus is on enabling faster, safer, and more transparent money movement for businesses through embedded and network-based payment solutions. Previously at AvidXchange, I led product transformation for AvidPay and Pay 2.0, modernizing B2B disbursement and supplier enablement experiences for a Decade. I work closely with banking partners, networks, and regulators to align product strategy with evolving compliance and market needs. Across both roles, I've championed platform modernization, regulatory alignment, and network collaboration to simplify B2B payments and accelerate electronic adoption.

Relevant experience with Alliance activities and/or other Nacha events:

Active Payments Innovation Alliance member contributing to discussions around B2B modernization and AI-driven payment intelligence. I recently participated in a Federal Reserve hosted panel on the FedNow ecosystem. I also publish ePaymentsNerd, a fintech blog focused on B2B payments innovation, regulatory trends, and emerging rails such as RTP, FedNow, and stablecoins. With deep experience in end-to-end B2B payment flows - from invoice to settlement and collaboration across financial institutions, networks, and fintechs, I bring both strategic and operational insight to advancing the Alliance's mission for innovation in business payments.
